

Sister Jeanne McGue, SSND -80 Year Jubilee!

Dedicated to Education!

When Jeanne McGue entered the School Sisters of Notre Dame 80 years ago, World War II was raging, Silly Putty had just been invented, and Bing Crosby was singing, "I'll be Home for Christmas."

Sister Jeanne worked tirelessly throughout her life to educate children, both in elementary schools and as director of religious education in parishes. An accomplished organist, she also taught music.

Sister Jeanne also served as director of religious education for the Diocese of Gary, Merrillville IN.

Today, Sister Jeanne is retired, offering prayer and presence to all and living at Marian Village in Homer Glen, IL.
